LESS STRESS FOR PETS

The holidays bring joy, celebration, and... a whole lot of chaos! While we're enjoying gatherings, decorations, and schedule changes, our pets may be feeling overwhelmed. Here's how to keep the season merry and calm for the four-legged family members:

- Create a "Holiday Retreat Room" away from the festivities complete with their bed or crate, familiar blankets, food/water, and calming music or white noise
- Keep routines steady: Stick to regular feeding, walks, and playtime.
- Watch for stress signs: Pacing, hiding, panting, or changes in appetite may indicate anxiety.
- Avoid holiday hazards: Keep chocolate, decorations, plants, and cords out of reach.
- Try calming aids: Pheromones, supplements, and anxiety wraps can help; ask us about options.
